

It's time to overhaul your induction and start getting the results it was always intended to deliver in the first place ...

END RESULT OF THIS ONE DAY INTERACTIVE WORKSHOP

You will have a framework for induction that enables you to create and add the content components of your own compelling cultural narrative, designed to turn new employees into raving fans and return existing employees to their original raving fan status!

HOW TO CREATE INDUCTION THAT TURNS EMPLOYEES OLD AND NEW INTO RAVING AMBASSADORS

A HAPPYSANDPIT ONE DAY INTERACTIVE WORKSHOP

This full day workshop will help you to blow fresh air and energy through your organisation in order to get the outcomes you most desire from your induction process: that new employees have a clear understanding of their place in the organisation and that they can embrace the organisation not only at a structural, but a philosophical level.

Apply it regularly with existing employees and it becomes a powerful tool to keep the intended and desired cultural narrative alive.

Since it is fully interactive, you will be put to work, alone and in groups, to develop your own unique induction proposition that is both practical and compelling to implement, the moment you get back to the office, complete with a ton of cost-free ideas.

Throughout you will be exposed to world-class local and international induction components and ideas including how they work and the results they deliver within their organisations.
