

THE TWO DAY
CULTURE

Create your bullet-proof competitive advantage.

CAPE TOWN | MAY 6 + 7

INTRO

Culture can aptly be defined as 'the way we do things here'. The go-to responses, the natural, instinctive actions and activities that define a reliable, consistent and predictable working environment are the clearest markers of your culture. And they happen with or without your intervention.

The most successful companies in the world are so because they have embraced the truth that culture is either something you choose or something that happens to you, and they have chosen to be intentional about it.

The HAPPYSANDPIT Two Day Culture Bootcamp is about being intentional. It is about all the important steps you will require to take control of your culture and craft it to deliver the results you need.

It is two days of intensive, interactive and exciting learning that will change your life, your business and set you on a firm path to success.

WHO'S IT FOR?
